NEW HONORS FOR HONDO GIRL.

In the voice contest, sponsored by the Tuesday Musical Club of San Antonio at the St. Anthony Hotel, Tuesday night, Miss Rose Senne of Hondo was awarded first place in the Senior group and was presented with a gold coin. Miss Senne sang "Mussetta's Valse Song" from "La Boheme" and John Pinele Scott's "The Wind Is in the South," the two songs which took second place for her in the Fifth District Musical Contest recently held at Corpus Christi. In the contest were ten singers, representing the best vocal talent of Westmoreland, Our Lady of the Lake and Incarnate Word Colleges and several private studios. Miss Senne is the voice student of Miss Ora Witte, well-known in musical circles of San Antonio and instructor of voice at Westmoreland College. Miss Rose, who possesses a clear and lovely soprano voice, is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Senne of Hondo.

Claud Burgin, a student at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, from Yancey, Texas, will get his B. S. degree from that institution in May. During the four years he has spent at A. & M. he has specialized in Entomology, and minored in Education, in addition to a quite general course of study which is required for a B. S. degree in Agricultural Education. In addition to his regular school work, he has defrayed a large part of his expenses by working for the Animal Husbandry Department and a large dairy in Bryan. He is particularly interested in insect control and the practical phases of Entomology.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Schuehle left Wednesday of last week for Robstown, where they joined the Eddie Hull Stock Company, which will play there for several days before going to Corpus Christi for performance of a month's duration. Mr. and Mrs. Schuehle were recently with the Dude Arthur players but decided to join the new company after the winter season closed. Mrs. Harry Crouch, mother of Mrs. Schuehle, accompanied them to Robstown returning the same day.

The Glee Clubs of Hondo High School together with the choirs of the several churches of Hondo have begun practice at the Chamber of Commerce Hall in preparation for their part in the commencement exercises of the high school seniors. Direction of the combined choruses is under Mr. Ed. Armstrong.

MEASURED IN MILES.

SUPPOSE for a moment that advertising didn't exist—that there were no trade-marked goods—that everything you bought had to be judged solely by its look or feel or taste. Imagine yourself setting out to do the morning's shopping under such conditions. You'd drive down the street, looking in windows for the articles you needed—the blouses for Johnny, the half-dozen bath towels, the toilet soap, the ginger ale for tomorrow's picnic. You'd stop, ask questions, examine the towels, smell the soap, wondering if here was your money's worth or if you might find something better farther on. And though you followed this procedure mile after weary mile, you could never be sure. Computed simply in terms of gasoline and tires and shoe-leather, advertising saves you a startling sum every year. And if you add the value of your time, the amount is vastly increased. When you buy a product that is advertised you know in advance what you will get, how much it costs and where you can obtain it. That is why, in millions of modern homes, the newspaper advertising columns are a daily guide to purchases. Read the advertisements in this paper, decide what you need, then buy with assurance.

FIND THOSE WHO WANT YOUR TRADE BY FIRST FINDING THEIR ADVERTISEMENT, THEN—LET ADVERTISING SAVE YOU TIME AND MONEY

THE LEGISLATIVE MILL.

By Fred W. Davis.

Much grist was turned out of the legislative hopper in the house during the week. Not much legislation of importance however—mostly correcting existing statutes.

One revenue measure of major importance has become a law, namely, the natural gas and cigarette tax. It was predicted that this measure would fail to get by the house after the senate, by amendment, added cigarettes to the bill. The house had repeatedly shown it was against a cigarette tax. Perhaps the determined efforts of Rep. Ray Holder of Dallas County contributed greatly to the passage of the cigarette tax. Holder is Chairman of Committee on Education in the house and most of the revenue collected under the bill will go to the schools. The law is estimated to raise about six million dollars annually.

Wonder why the tax was confined to cigarettes. Why not tobacco in all forms? Is it a luxury tax? If so why shouldn't it apply to all forms of tobacco using. Maybe the passage of this bill is a good example of why each session has to spend so much time correcting or improving statutes.

Speaking of spending time, when one observes any deliberative body the thought uppermost is the apparent lost motion. There was some fifteen thousand dollars difference between the house and senate on the judiciary appropriations. Each bill called for 51-3 million dollars but the house refused to all the extra fifteen thousand the senate added and a conference was held with the result, a worked out compromise on the fifteen thousand difference. At other times the legislature may show a disposition to not permit a few hundred thousand to stand in its way.

More than a week ago the senate began consideration of the motor truck bill and are not through yet. It finally passed to engrossment but pending for additional consideration next week. This measure, which is a house bill, has been amended by the senate in many places and will doubtless go to a free conference for adjustment of differences between the two branches of the legislature.

A rather unfortunate affair came up in the legislature this week concerning the road bond amendment. Before the amendment came in the house the opponents of the measure held a caucus. One of the representatives of Travis County is alleged to have taken a leading part in the caucus. The plan seems to have been to not compromise the issue by making amendments and a long drawn out fight. As a consequence a vote was soon reached with an indication the resolution would lose in the house.

This action was followed by a meeting of business men in Austin where resolutions were drawn demanding that the representatives of Travis County desist their active work against the road bond resolution. The reason given that there was a move on to move the Highway Department to Waco as a retaliation to the activities of the Travis County Representatives.

Resentment to this resolution was practically unanimous in the House and was strongly expressed in the senate. The general opinion is, this was an effort to coerce the Travis County members to support the road bonds, while this writer believes they are wholly unsound in principle. But no city has better citizens than some of the leaders of this move and they are not political bulldozers. Austin is proud of the state institutions located here and Austin citizens know these institutions are a business asset to the city. And somebody or some organization favoring road bonds must have made these people believe there was going to be retaliation by moving a part of the state government away from Austin. As a consequence, they felt impelled to ask the Travis County Representatives to desist their opposition to a question which has an active majority, lest it work an injury to the city of Austin. The pity is, it may never be definitely known who the guilty parties are, who really fathered the threat, because I feel sure their services would be discontinued.

The legislature has shown clearly it is not going to make the state capital and state government a political football to be kicked about by clashing interest. It should be known by all citizens that the legislature is thumbs down on coercion; that it is still an open forum where opposition is tolerated and honest convictions are honored.

Appropriations have been brought out and may be acted upon during this session. One hears quite a bit of opposition to a called session, following this long session. If appropriations are made there is little likelihood of an extra session soon.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

The Thursday Bridge Club met Monday night for a delightful evening of bridge, with Judge and Mrs. L. J. Brucks as hosts. There were four tables arranged. Lovely flower motifs were carried out in the rooms, wild flowers featured in the living room, colorful verbenas and candy-tuft in the dining room, and fragrant roses and larkspur in the music room.

Mrs. O. B. Taylor won high score and was presented a cookie jar. Mr. Horace Bradley received an Ever-sharp pencil for high prize among the men.

The hostess, assisted by Misses Bess and Lillian Brucks, served refreshing punch and wafers at the end of the playing.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bradley, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. O. B. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Starnes, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Finger, Misses Bess and Lillian Brucks and Judge and Mrs. Brucks.

OIL CORPORATION CHANGES.

The Medina Oil and Gas Company, which owns and operates the 150-acre Taylor lease southwest of Hondo, has amended its Articles of Incorporation. The Secretary of State accepted the amendments this week and the name of the corporation now is Medina Oil and Refining Company. Its corporate headquarters have been moved from Abilene to San Antonio. The number of its directors has been increased and its capital changed to 10,000 common shares. The corporation was chartered by the State of Texas on January 3, 1930, to take over the Taylor lease, from L. D. Previtt. The new shareholders plan to develop the lease and increase its production and to convert the crude oil into grease, lubricating oil, etc. This lease produces from about 300 feet a low gravity crude oil particularly suited to make lubricants. The crude has been used for that purpose for a number of years.

LOUIS HEICKMANN DEAD.

Mr. Louis Heickmann, for many years a citizen of Somerset, died at a hospital in San Antonio early Thursday morning, April 30, 1931, following an operation for locked bowels.

Burial will be made at Somerset, but definite plans for the funeral were not complete when we went to press.

Mr. Heickmann's brother, John Heickmann, and his sister, Mrs. R. E. Bohmfalk, both of this place, were at his bedside when the end came.

A DEPLORABLE TRAGEDY

BUY AT HOME.

Much has been said lately about "buying at home." The business man has been preachin' this for a long time. Does he really practice what he preaches?

An effort is being made to induce the merchants to sell only "Hondo made bread." Why only bread? Why is creamery butter being sold in Hondo when tons of good home-made butter can be bought cheaper? Where was the soda pop made that you sell? Were the candies, cigars, tobaccos, etc. bought from the Hondo wholesaler or from some San Antonio, Dallas or St. Louis dealer? Do you sell milk from the Hondo dairymen or do you sell (canned) milk shipped in from New York? Why New York milk?

Do you offer for sale "Hondo made" cow and chicken feed, or do you prefer to sell feeds made in Ft. Worth? There are seven middlemen's profits in buying your Ft. Worth made feeds. Why not keep all of these profits at home by selling only "Hondo made feeds."

Why are vegetables bought in San Antonio when fresher home-grown vegetables can be had? About a year ago a farmer carried some fresh picked vegetables to one of our local merchants offering them in trade for groceries. The offer was rejected with a frown; at the same time one of his clerks was unloading vegetables which he had bought in San Antonio—vegetables which had been picked the previous day. Who paid the car expenses to San Antonio and back while going after the vegetables? The buying public did, of course. Furthermore, Mr. Merchant paid cash for the vegetables. San Antonio did not care for his groceries, cash is what they wanted. Now, where did Mr. Merchant spend his cash? Buy at home and save time and car expenses.

Mr. Businessman! Make a list of the various items that can and should be bought here at home, and then start "house cleaning." Remember, it's the buying public who pays the freight and upkeep expense on the numerous trucks who daily visit our town. These truck owners and drivers spend their money in San Antonio and not in Hondo. Did you ever see one of these bread trucks, soda-water trucks or any other kind of truck from San Antonio buying gas or oil in Hondo? Did you ever see one of these trucks in a Hondo garage for repairs? No. A San Antonio wrecking car comes out and tows the truck to San Antonio, where it will be repaired. Now why, oh why, do you not practice what you preach? Buy at home and the buying public will not have to help pay the upkeep expenses of these San Antonio trucks.

Back to the bread proposition. If all of the Hondo women would do their own baking in less than two weeks bread would be selling at 5c per loaf, the price that it should be. Flour is "dirt cheap," why must bread be "sky high."

If Mr. Businessman will see to it that his wife does all of her shopping in Hondo instead of San Antonio then he will have a right to preach "buy at home." And as long as he permits his family to shop away from home the buying public has as much right to shop away from home or to order from some mail order house.

Mr. Businessman! Do all of your buying at home. Then and not until then have you a right to expect the buying public to do the same.

PERRY LANCASTER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED AT BROWNWOOD.

Rev. P. E. Lancaster received a telephone message about one o'clock Wednesday afternoon from a sister at Brownwood stating that his 18-year-old son, Perry Lancaster, had been accidentally shot and dangerously hurt at the home of his grandmother, Rev. Lancaster's mother, near Brownwood. No further particulars of how the unfortunate accident occurred could be secured by this paper, as Rev. Lancaster and family started at once for Brownwood.

About mid-afternoon a message came to Mr. J. A. Horger that the young man had died, and he and Chancey King left at once in the ambulance to bring the body to Hondo. They over-took the Lancaster family near Comfort, where they were being detained by a swollen stream, and Mrs. Lancaster and the children returned to Hondo with Chancey King, in the Lancaster car, and Rev. Lancaster went on with Mr. Horger in the ambulance to Brownwood. Funeral arrangements for the burial here will be completed after their return from Brownwood with the body.

The unfortunate young man was a student in college at Weatherford, Texas, and had a bright and promising future before him. He was in Brownwood on a visit to his grandmother and aunt when the tragedy occurred.

The entire Community grieves with Rev. and Mrs. Lancaster in this terrible sorrow that has come to them.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

There is little to be said about our protracted meetings, excepting that we have not missed a service on account of the continued rains. Of course, in a way, we have been sorely disappointed; for in prevailing conditions little can be even attempted. However, despite the rains, the attendance has been very good. The co-operation of our friends of the other churches has been all we could ask. God bless them all. We now expect to try to continue through Sunday, holding all services excepting the morning hour Saturday.

The Baptists join the entire Community, in deepest sympathy and heartfelt sorrow, with the family of good Brother Lancaster in their bitter grief. We pray for the presence of the all-sufficient Comforter, to be with them. God must, in a time like this, be our Refuge and Strength.

COLONIAL COVERINGS

William Powell—and Paris! They fit each other perfectly. Both are fascinating, both appeal forcibly to the romantic imagination. "Man of the World," the new dramatic conflict which the Colonial Theatre will Saturday, May 2, brings Powell and Paris together in a story of tremendous emotional appeal. And in the leading feminine role, Carole Lombard exercises the charms which have lifted her in a brief meteoric screen career from Mack Sennett Comedies to near-stardom. Love that comes too late is the theme of this startling drama, in which Powell preys on the wealthy American business men who count on the license of Paris to cover up their frivolous flings. The action of the story shows Powell, as an outcast, loved by two beautiful women—one he wants and can't have, the other he can have and doesn't want.

Paramount brings a new kind of laugh-peg to the screen in "It Pays to Advertise," the romance-comedy which enlivens the feeling moments at the Colonial Theatre, Sunday and Monday. Skeets Gallagher, Norman Foster, Eugene Pallette, Lucius Littlefield, Carole Lombard and Louise Brooks head the cast. The story concerns the adventures of a rich playboy son of a soap-manufacturer who goes into business for himself to show his dad he is capable of earning an independent income. Don't miss it.

Norma Shearer returns to the screen after an absence of more than six months in "Strangers May Kiss," her new M-G-M, starring vehicle which will open Thursday at the Colonial Theatre. Robert Montgomery and Neil Hamilton share leading man honors and the cast includes Marjorie Rambeau, Conchita Montenegro, Irene Rich, Hale Hamilton, Jed Prouty and Albert Conti. The story concerns the vivid career of a woman who follows the man she loves to all corners of the earth and wins out despite a series of bitter disillusionments.

The great majority of soils in the East and south and in parts of Central West are deficient in lime. Increased crop yields will result from applications of lime, say soil specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"I have no time to read a book," repines Mrs. Gray as she sorts out the soiled linen on a dull day. "I never go to the movies," sighs Mrs. Black with a shrug of her bent shoulders. "I have never opened the piano since I had a baby carriage," commented Mrs. Wry glumly. "My garden might be at the bottom of the Red Sea because I can't simply find the time to raise the smallest rosebud," declared Mrs. Blank to her three crushed neighbors one miserable Monday morning. AND UNHAPPILY MANY OF US GET LIKE THAT.

But honestly none of us are too busy to put a little sweetness into each day. Our hands are not so full of burdens that we cannot carry a flower to the parlor table, and even one lone little blossom can transform a home into a garden. Our larders can't be so empty that we don't have a cookie in the jar for some kiddie who looks over the fence, and our hearts can't be so weary but what we can dish out a bit of brightness once a day.

The days are indeed too short for

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily, half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell's is the treatment in the treatment of men and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

FROM YANCEY.

What a splendid rain we have had! It began raining Saturday night and continued to do so until Sunday noon. Creeks were running everywhere, water was standing in fields and roadsides and the roads were very muddy. It will be a busy time for farmers as weeds are having the same chance to grow as corn.

SOME HOMELY THOUGHTS.

There's a lot being said and written about HEALTH—and well there might be! For isn't it one of the most essential things in life? Our own happiness and the happiness and welfare of our loved ones, to a great extent, depend much on the question of health. Our home can not radiate an atmosphere of contentment, the joy of living, appreciation of the beautiful, and a healthy spiritual outlook if we and others who make up the home are subject to headaches, dyspepsia, sciatica and other aches and pains. Every home can and should be a health center—spiritually and materially.

As to the question of food, no home-maker can hide behind the excuse of ignorance, provided they can read and write. Newspapers carry attractive ads of the best foods, often giving analysis of same, recipes and suggestions for serving, etc. Magazines are full of helpful information on this subject. Anyone seeking help may find it not only in the magazines and books (borrowed, if necessary) but in almost every well organized county there is the County Demonstrator who is ready and anxious to give just such assistance on any subject touching home-making.

One would think no home-maker would fail to give their best thought to the question since the success and happiness of the home does depend so much on it. We ALL want happiness in this life, no exceptions. No matter how small the amount of money one may have to spend for life's necessities, whole wheat bread instead of always the white, less meat and grease and more vegetables and fruits would make a much needed change in many households. Cabbage, spinach, turnips, apples, raisins, prunes, etc., are far cheaper than meat and lard (by the pound) which, from force of habit, is often used to excess. These fruits and vegetables in combination with the whole grain cereals and bread (whole grain) butter and milk, give ample strength and energy for the ordinary person following ordinary pursuits. Very often it is not a question of money, even when finances are quite limited, but a matter of custom—no thought or care given the subject by the head of the household. It is so easy to fall into a "rut" and passively accept things as inevitable. Sunshine and fresh air are free—but too few get sufficient of either!

And why not GROW health, potentially speaking? Spring is here! Who can resist the urge to plant something? No one can if he or she is healthy in body and mind and have the natural instinct of a provider. And this is just another way "Mrs. Thrifty Home-maker" can add, O, so much to the health and happiness of herself and family! You say, "Well, vegetables are cheap now." Or, "I have no suitable space." "No time to plant and tend a garden." Generally speaking, on every count you are wrong. It is certainly surprising just what can be grown on the tiniest little plot of ground—even in boxes (carrots, radishes, parsley, as well as flowers). Another big surprise is how many returns you realize on a few cents invested in garden seed and flower seed. A mighty lot of health and beauty in a handful of tiny seeds!

Then again, when you grow vegetables they come to the table much fresher and better than can possibly be bought out of a store. Too many vegetables we buy are "car sick." With your own fresh vegetables available the thoughtful and sincere home-maker may be assured of many, many healthful and delightful meals throughout all the growing season, and may prolong this season by careful planning and replanting (thereby saving many dollars too). Vegetables combine in tasty soup, nourishing, economical and GOOD! They may be eaten raw, grated or chopped and served as the very best of salads, so easily and quickly prepared they should be served daily. And then, of course, the old standby methods of serving vegetables are good to vary the menu.

Springtime invariably reminds me of childhood experiences on the farm. I see long rows of fresh turned dirt, glistening black in the sunshine—and later fields of corn, cotton, potatoes, sorghum, etc., but too often a small and quite limited vegetable garden and few, very few flowers. In my home the opposite condition prevailed, therefore the contrast and my attention being called to same at an early age. Our country neighbors often explained this 'garden famine' was caused by lack of money and time, but mostly that the money must be spent for other things. Yet, it would have been much better, from the standpoint of health and happiness, to spare a few cents (or even a few dollars) for vegetables and flower seed. Just a few extra beans, greens, okra, tomatoes, peas, etc. to put away for the next winter's use would have saved dollars, as well as adding immeasurably to the family's health and happiness. A few rose cuttings, a lilac bush, ten cents spent for Zinnia seed, a nickel or dime for petunias or phlox add beauty and refinement that nothing else can give.

Often country home-makers bemoan and bemoan their fate and fail to see the beauty and possibilities of happiness, health and service about them. Kuskin wrote, "Now and then a wearied king or a tormented slave, found out where the true kingdoms of the world were, and possessed himself, in a furrow or two of garden ground, of a truly infinite dominion."

Carolina Woman Lost 47 Lbs. In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1930. "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at W. H. Windrow's and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

Too Much ACID

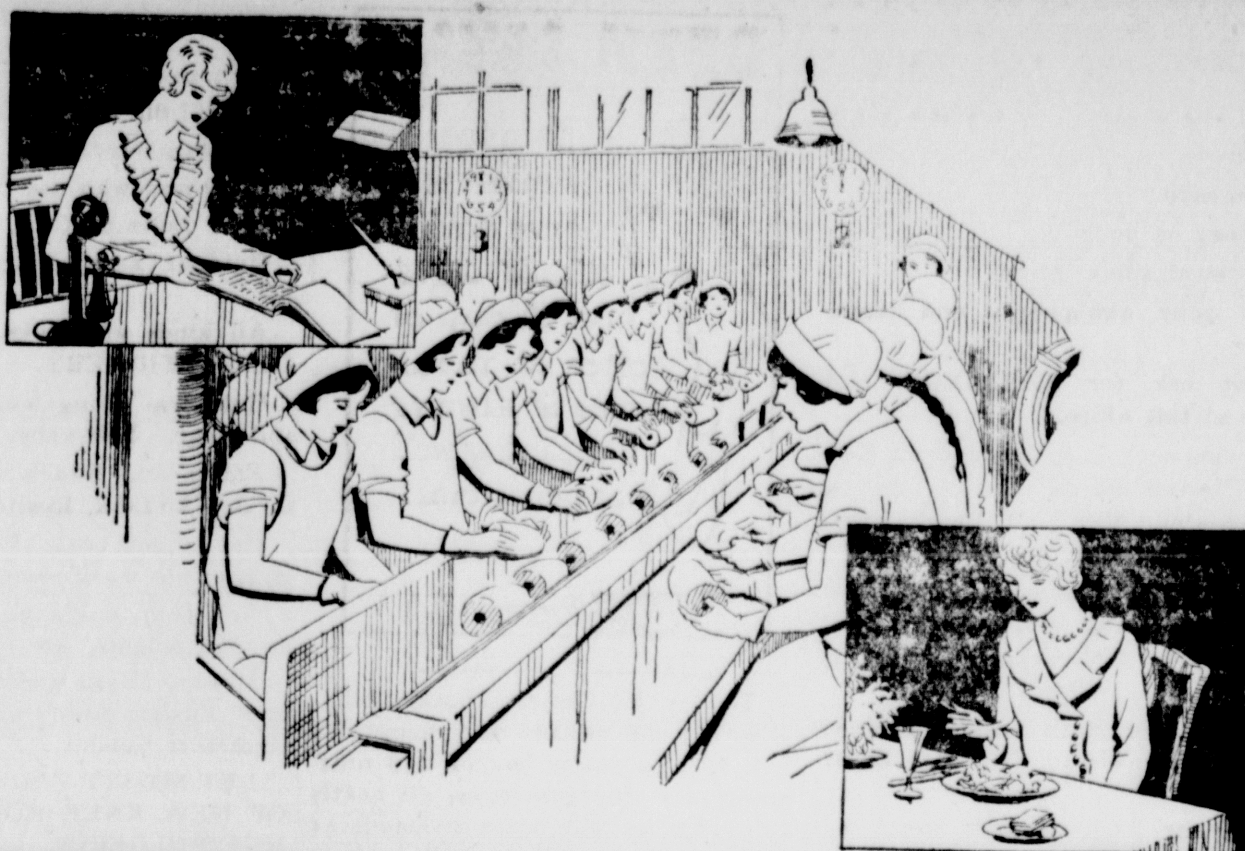

For Troubles due to Acid Indigestion, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gases, Nausea.

MANY people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 60 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, the kind that physicians have prescribed for over 60 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company, and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

WOMEN AND PINEAPPLES

WHEN women make a study of women in industry, the results are sometimes interesting to women in the home, as well as to women with jobs. This is especially so when the industry investigated is work on food in commercial kitchens. Then questions leap to the lips. "Are the kitchens clean?" "Is the food wholesome and immaculately handled?" "Is the working environment all that it should be?"

Immaculately Clean

The Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor recently turned its attention to the answers to these and many other questions in regard to Hawaii's second largest industry, the canning of pineapples. The results of this investigation, published in pamphlet form, showed that not one of the cannery buildings visited was old. Those most recently built were high, light and airy, and as spotless as your own kitchen. All were adequately drained.

"Conspicuous to anyone visiting the canneries even casually," says a review of this report by Jean Collier Brown in "Practical Home Economics," "would be the uniforms worn by the girls at work, generally furnished and laundered by the firm. It was reported that upon the deposit of a soiled apron the matron in charge gave out a clean one, the exchange being made at any hour of the day and as often as necessary. Everywhere the employees wore rubber gloves, which added to the general sanitary effect."

All of which is very satisfactory, but the woman in the home wants also to know the best ways to serve this fruit which has been found by the government investigators to be so carefully and wholesomely handled. So here are some of the latest recipes which have been evolved for its use:

Orange Flower Salad: Drain one 8-ounce can of pineapple tidbits, add one-half cup diced celery and marinate in French dressing for an hour. Add one-fourth cup chopped walnuts and pile in mounds in the center of lettuce leaves. Remove sections from two oranges, leaving on none of the white fibre, and arrange star fashion over the mound of fruit. On top radiate a date cut in strips. Serve with cream mayonnaise. This serves four persons.

Pineapple Pistachio Rice: Beat one cup heavy cream and fold into two cups of cold boiled rice. Add two cups crushed pineapple, one-fourth cup confectioner's sugar, one-half cup chopped pistachio nuts, and chill. Serve in glass dessert dishes with a teaspoon of orange marmalade on top for garnish. This serves eight persons.

Chocolate Pineapple Slices: Melt

four squares of chocolate in a double boiler, add one-third cup peanut butter and stir until well-blended. Add three-fourths cup confectioner's sugar and three-fourths cup evaporated milk, and cook until thick. Drain eight slices of pineapple and dip each one in the chocolate until well coated. Place one slice on each small service plate and sprinkle with salted peanuts. Place a marshmallow in the center of each.

Still More Treats

Pineapple Charlotte: Remove crusts from eight slices of bread and spread with butter. Heat the contents of a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple and one-fourth cup of sugar to boiling. Put layers of the buttered bread and the hot pineapple in a rather deep dish and press down well. Let stand several hours in the refrigerator; then turn out in mold form and serve cut in slices. Garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries. This serves eight persons.

Baked Pineapple and Rhubarb: Cut six cups rhubarb, unpeeled, in small pieces. Put in a baking dish with one cup sugar, ten cloves, one-eighth teaspoon cinnamon and one cup pineapple syrup. Cover and bake until tender, in an oven, 375 degrees. Serve cold with some simple cake, such as sponge cake. This serves eight persons.*

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

COFFEE stains can usually be removed from white materials by pouring boiling water on the stain from a kettle held some distance above the fabric. With other materials, rub the stain gently with glycerine, rinse in warm water and press on wrong side.

While fresh fruits and berries are abundant there is no difficulty in deciding how to garnish the breakfast cereal. To prevent the problem from becoming acute when winter comes, it is wise to put up now those sparkling jellies which are every bit as delicious with the cereal as fresh fruit, and which will persuade many a child to eat with relish his bowl of porridge which he is otherwise likely to finish only under protest.

"Contributor", in his contribution published elsewhere in the paper, presents another phase of the trade-at-home problem that should make us all stop and think. The trade-at-home proposition is a more complex and has many angles to it than most of us suppose and few there be that do not at some time offend. To be told of our fault to have the mirror of public opinion held up to us to where we see ourselves as others see us, can have either one of two effects. If it leads to an honest and generous effort to correct our own errors it will be helpful to all. If it only arouses sentiment and provokes petty retaliation nothing but harm can come of it. If we refuse to consider the fellow's complaint and make no effort to remove it, seeking rather to establish an alibi for our own actions, resentment and retaliation only can follow to the hurt of us all. Think on these things before you "Contributor's" castigations are your ire.

The first half of the week, up press hour Thursday afternoon, has been marked by almost constant cloudy weather and frequent showers. While no heavy rains have fallen in this immediate section, the gregate precipitation has thoroughly soaked the soil. The oat crop is doing fine except that in the case of excessively heavy growth they are falling over. Corn and cotton are backward on account of too much cool weather, but stands are good and everything is in ideal shape for rapid, healthful growth if we get the right kind of warm weather soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Murrill have gone to Galveston where they will make their future home. HONDO DROPS FIRST LEAGUE GAME TO D'HANIS.

By Kooter MacGrail
The Hondo Broncos lost the first game of the Highway No. 90 League to the D'Hanis Pirates by an 8 to 5 score Sunday afternoon at Hondo.
Twelve hits along with five errors,
that came with men on the bases, were the factors that won the game for the visitors. The locals collected nine hits and drove G. Koch from the hill in the fourth frame. He was followed by W. Zerr, but T. Koch had to come in from left field to subdue the Broncos and hold them in check the last innings of the game.
D'Hanis grabbed a two-run lead in the initial inning and was never headed.

C. J. and A. H. Finger, both of D'Hanis, connected for three hits in five trips to the plate for batting honors. Earl Lacy of Hondo drove out a triple and single in four times to bat.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT OF TEXAS FOR 1929.

Washington, D. C., March 31, 1931.—The Bureau of the Census announces a summary of the financial statistics of the State of Texas for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1929. The per capita figures for 1929 are based on an estimated population of 5,702,000. These statistics are compiled by Mr. Vann M. Kennedy.

Expenditures

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Texas amounted to $68,- 418,689, or $12.00 per capita. This includes $25,165,954, apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1928 the comparative per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $12.54, and in 1917, $4.59. The interest on debt in 1929 amounted to $76,993; and outlays for permanent improvements, $24,379,635. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments, interest and outlays were $92,875,317. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $34,299,927 was for highways, $12,151,564 being for maintenance and $22,148,363 for construction.

Revenues

The total revenue receipts were $94,729,950, or $16.61 per capita.
This was $26,234,268 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements and $1,854,633 more than the total payments including those for permanent improvements.
This excess of revenue receipts is reflected in purchase of investments, not shown in this summary. Property and special taxes represented 29.7
per cent of the total revenue for 1929, 30.6 per cent for 1928, and 56.6 per cent for 1918. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 104 per cent from 1917 to 1929, but there was a decrease of 1.3 per cent from 1928 to 1929. The per capita property and special taxes were $4.93 in 1929, $5.09 in 1928 and $3.10 in 1917.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by State officials, represented 4.4
per cent of the total revenue for 1929, 4.8 per cent for 1928, and 16.7 per cent for 1917.

Business and nonbusiness licenses constituted 44.6 per cent of the total revenue for 1929, 44.6 per cent for 1928, and 12.5 per cent for 1917.

Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, of occupation taxes, and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from nonbusiness licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $16,006,660 in 1929 and $19,211,576 in 1928, a decrease of 16.7 per cent.

Indebtedness
The total funded or fixed debt outstanding August 31, 1929, was $4,- 367,200.

The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $4,367,200, or $0.77 per capita.
In 1928 the per capita net debt was $0.76, and in 1917, $1.07.

Assessed Valuations and Tax Levies

The assessed valuation of property in Texas subject to ad valorem taxation was $4,219,235,097; the amount of State taxes levied was $28,690,- 799; and the per capita levy, $5.03.
In 1928 the per capita levy was $4.57, and in 1917, $3.86.

he went direct to the reception.

At 11 o'clock she laid out his pa-

He showed up at 3 a. m., much the

SPAIN—THE LAND OF PROMISE

From The Owl.

All of Spain is interesting to a traveler, but Andalusia, in the southern part, which is called "the soul" of Spain, is the most interesting. Andalusia is the country of the Moors, and of endless romance. It is here that a person finds Seville, Cordova, Granada and the Alhambra, and the beauty of the Moorish architecture whose "frozen music" makes one catch one's breath. One has an almost childish feeling when looking at the jewels that Isabella sold for Columbus in his new world adventure. Part of history returns to a person when standing beside the tombs of Isabella and Ferdinand studying the marble effigy upon them.

Many people know that when Isabella was dying, Ferdinand was not there. He was supposed to be away at war, but in reality he was at some other place with another woman. He paid no attention when a messenger brought to him the news of his dying Queen. So Isabella died with her eyes upon the door, hoping the King would come to her before she died. When Ferdinand was dying he must have remembered this for his last words were, "Lay me beside Isabella." His orders were obeyed, but he seems as remote in death as in life, for his effigy shows him lying on his back, while the effigy of Isabella at his right turns adoringly to him, as she did in life.

In Andalusia there is a monument of a woman who died during the Inquisition. Her story is sad, for as her burning clothes fell from her body, a number of the multitude who were watching began to cheer at her nudity. Her maid of honor rushed to her and covered her body with her own. The two are shown in marble locked in this eternal embrace.

The Escorial, situated in the mountains, in Castile, is a monument of three thousand rooms, constructed by Phillip II. During the time when the Escorial was built Philip watched the progress of the work from the summit of a mountain nearby. This path is now open to travelers, but the road is narrow, and the ravine side of it is a depth of a thousand feet and is ungarded.

No person has ever been through all of the three thousand rooms, but we know that there is only one fireplace and that is in the throne room. Here there is also the chair in which Philip was carried the forty miles from Madrid to the Escorial to die. It took five days for the trip and Philip was put into the bed from which he never again rose in his life. But his bedroom was near the chapel, where he could see to the high altar and follow every Mass.

The most beautiful part of the Escorial is the crypt far under the gridiron which is reached by descending innumerable dark stairs. This is the tomb of the kings of Spain. Only kings and mothers of kings can lie there. The Queen Maria Christina will rest there, because her son is king of Spain, and the wife of Alfonso XIII must lie in another room, with many other queens who died before their sons became kings.

The crypt is an octagonal room lined with marble shelves each large enough to hold a sarcophagus with the body of a king or queen. Beginning with Charles V all are there, ending with an empty one for Alfonso XIII. Many times Alfonso XIII visits the crypt and looks at his place with a smile.

A few years ago Alfonso XIII wished to see how Charles V looked, so he opened the sarcophagus to satisfy his curiosity.

Toledo is the oldest and most interesting city in Spain. Here is one of the most beautiful cathedrals in the world, a traveler follows with delight his guide's account of the taking and retaking of the old fortress throughout the ages. Then he strolls around the walled city that the centuries have left unchanged, passes through the original Gate of Blood to the public square where victims of the Inquisition were burned, and hears the same old bell whose ringing was the last sound many heard.

The Alhambra in Granada is the last stronghold of the Moors, and one of the finest existing examples of Moorish architecture. Here is found "The Court of the Lions" and the "Court of the Sisters," but The Garden of Lindaraja is the most enchanting place in the world. Here the last Sultana dreamed away the hours, till the time of her tragic death. The garden is small with hedges of old, encircling cedars that stand like tall black sentinels, whispering their message of immortality to the skies. Old orange trees flaunt their fruit and blossoms against the ivory-tinted walls of the palace. A central fountain shoots its jet of water high into the air. Not even a slight sound comes from the outer world, for there is only the splash of the fountains and the notes of drowsy nightingales.

From the Alhambra one goes to the garden of Generalife. One naturally lingers here, listening to the duet of the fountains and nightingales.

ADVERTISING

From The Owl.

Advertising is a method of making the public want to buy. Articles are advertised by the use of billboards, electric signs, newspapers, magazines, moving pictures, programs, window displays and cards in street cars. These are the most common ways of advertising, though the more original the idea, the more likely people are to become interested. Advertising is a great thing, because it helps the merchant to sell his goods, and it helps the customers to select theirs. Of course some advertisements are greatly exaggerated, but one must be able to choose.

Millions of dollars are spent annually to advertise. A certain automobile manufacturer spent two million dollars for this purpose in 1916. A brand of chewing gum is advertised annually to extent of five hundred thousand dollars, and each package only costs five cents.

There is not as much money spent now in advertising patent medicines and alcoholic liquors as previously, but, in the last few years, the amount spent to advertise certain makes of automobiles has risen to a fabulous sum.

The principal source of revenue to magazines and newspapers is the money spent for advertising. If it were not for this, they would cost much more. The reason they try to get so many subscribers is not so much because of the money paid for the subscription, because at times the paper on which they are printed is worth more than the price, but the larger circulation papers or magazines have, the better advertising they can get.

Advertising is a task that must be handled by an expert, one who knows what the public wants and how to give it to them. For this reason, advertising agencies have been set up. The agency acts as a medium between the advertiser, who wants his advertisement published, and the publication, which wants advertisements to make money and fill space. These agencies also arrange for billboard and electric light advertising. Billboards are, I suppose, useful to the advertiser, but, sometimes, the highways are so crowded with them that the natural beauty of the scenery is hidden.

An advertisement must appeal to the public. First, it must be striking, so that one will stop and look at it. Then, it should be original and distinctive. Some companies have a series of advertisements which are especially interesting and distinctive, for instance, the Campbell's Soup or Wrigley Chewing Gum advertisements. Some companies have slogans, for instance, Old Gold's is "Not a cough in a carload," and Maxwell House Coffee's is "Good to the Last Drop."

The small town merchant must also advertise. He may think that everyone in town knows him and what he has to sell. Probably they do, but he has competition, because mail-order catalogues and advertisements from large firms are being constantly presented to people in a small town. A good way for such a merchant to advertise is by having an attractive, interesting, or perhaps educational window display. This is always noticed, and it shows people that the business concern is wide-awake and up-to-date.

KITCHEN LORE

by
JANE ROGERS

THE woman who knows how to transform left-overs never has any left-overs. That sounds like a paradox, but it is absolutely true. Without a single exception that I can think of, left-overs can be combined and transformed into delicious dishes that will possess an appetite appeal quite equal to the originals.

It isn't always possible to give exact recipes for left-overs; so a certain amount of imagination is usually a necessity. Another necessity is a proper use of seasoning ingredients. A dash of sugar will touch up and blend the various flavors. A little tomato or onion will often add interest to what would otherwise be a flat dish. Peppers and pimientos, too, have an important place. Season with care and imagination, and just see how enthusiastically your family responds.

Steak Savory

Arrange sliced, left-over steak in baking dish. On top of the steak put a thick layer of sliced onions, one cup stewed tomatoes, one chopped green pepper. Sprinkle with parsley and add one-half teaspoon salt, an equal amount of sugar, and pepper to taste. Bake until onions are tender.

Dumb: "Have you ever seen a truck-farm?"

Dumber: "Sure, I went through the General Motors factory this summer." —Washington, Dirge.

Fruits With Meat

WHEN you select your lighter clothes for spring—don't forget to select your lighter diet. An unseasonable dinner is as unbecoming as an unseasonable frock—and just as uncomfortable. The vogue for fruits with meat offers some very new and pleasing ensembles.

Have you ever eaten roast shoulder of lamb with browned pears? If so, you haven't forgotten how delicious it was. The roast is prepared as usual, and when it is nearly finished canned pears, which have been well drained and lightly sprinkled with flour, are placed around the meat. When browned, dust with paprika and serve on the platter to garnish the meat.

New Suggestions

A pot roast of veal and plums is another likeable combination.

When the pot roast is nearly done, add a cupful of canned green gage plums with one cupful of their syrup, and continue cooking slowly for a short time. Serve the plums about the meat; strain and thicken the gravy and serve it separately.

A delicious breakfast suggestion is broiled bacon and apple rings. If you have eggs in little individual pans baking in the top of the oven while the bacon and apple rings are broiling below—breakfast is quickly served.

And for the quickly-prepared dinner, after an afternoon at your bridge club, try Lamb Chops Park Avenue—just place six chops on a well-oiled broiler and cook for eight minutes without turning. Turn each chop and cover with a slice of Hawaiian pineapple. Broil eight minutes more and serve on a hot platter.

Huge Power Project

The biggest industrial project in Texas this month has been the letting of a contract for the construction of the $3,500,000 dam at Kingsland, near Burnet, Llano and Marble Falls. The complete plant will cost approximately $6,000,000 and is one of several other dams to be built on the Colorado river in connection with the power project. The power to be developed has already been contracted to power companies. It is believed that a surplus of water will be available for much irrigation in the Colorado river valley.

The irrigation projects on the Colorado and its tributaries above these power dams, along with the restoration of the Austin dam which is expected as soon as pending litigation is settled, will result in intensive development of the entire valley.

Beautification to Follow Building

A scenic highway is to be constructed around the shores of the great lake on the Colorado to take the place of the present roadway. It is stated that it will be one of the most beautiful drives in all Texas. Summer cottage sites will probably be available at advantageous points around and near the lake which will be stocked with fish and made one of the State's best fishing resorts. Plans are contemplated for extending the highway direct to the big lake now under construction a few miles northwest of Brownwood is one of the many beauty spots of that section. This roadway would traverse the lovely hill section of San Saba, Mills and Brown counties and furnish a direct route to the lake from San Antonio, Galveston and Houston.

Cotton Dresses for Commencement
State officials headed by Gov. Sterling have suggested that all graduates of Texas schools this year wear cotton suits and dresses at commencement exercises. If this should be done, students and faculty members alike wearing only cotton dresses, a wonderful impetus would be given the cotton industry and a great amount of publicity secured for the State. Perhaps it may be too early to induce all the schools to do this year, but why not start the movement now in every school where teachers are more interested in Texas development than in school style shows at commencement?

Tree-Lined Highways

Plans are being discussed to line the entire highways from San Antonio to Brownsville and from Brownsville to Houston with palms. The movement as yet is in its initial stage, but it should receive the support of every county through which the highways pass. The picturesque results would far more than justify the expense. Why shouldn't the same idea be adopted for all Texas highways, each being lined with trees adapted or indigenous to the territory through which each highway passes? The State Highway Department, with the co-operation of the people of the counties, could easily create the sentiment to bring this about. Why not start this movement now?

Legislative Generosity

The people of Texas were liberal with the Texas legislature in raising the per diem of members to $10 a day increasing the regular session to 20 days. The first session expires May 12, unless both bodies decide to continue it at one half the pay allotted for the regular session. Many important measures will die on the tender if the body adjourns May 2, and in a called session only such measures as the Governor may submit can be considered and these must be introduced anew and go through the tedious delay of committee hearings. The legislature owes to the people to continue its work until the business is finished even if it should receive no pay. It is the duty of State employees whose salaries have been doubled during the period when almost every one's earnings are being lowered.

Centennial-Minded

The Dallas News says: "By all means let Texas have a glorious celebration in 1936. The comparatively small expense would come back to the interests of the State and in the long run who have been heading the movement to find is that there is too much disposition to 'let' it alone and not enough interest in doing. Texas must help itself if it is to be helped. The right kind of celebration will require both national and international support. Texas must take the initiative to get this support about. By all means the State constitution should be amended as soon as possible to give legislative support of a Texas centennial celebration in 1936."

Low Oil Prices

With several new oil wells being drilled in daily in the new East Texas field and prices for crude oil falling from 8 to 10 cents a barrel, there is little inducement for further oil development in the territory in Texas just now. The East Texas producers would be better off to leave the oil in the ground, for it can hardly be loaded at prevailing prices. But with the unprecedented low price of crude oil, refined oil and gas continue at old prices.

Citrus Growers Warned

Citrus fruit production in the United States has reached the volume, according to Washington crop statistic authorities, where the supply exceeds the consumption. This applies especially to oranges. Either the people must eat more fruit or must stop increasing the size of the orchards.

Texas Grape Fruit Excels

Wherever grape fruit is eaten it is conceded that the Texas product excels in flavor, in juiciness, in texture that of all other sections of the country. Improved harbor and shipping facilities in South Texas bring the Texas grape fruit crop closer to the markets of this and other countries. But better organized marketing is going to be required.

Home Patronage

A Texas editor complains bitterly that when his note to the local bank became due, he received a statement made out on a blank printed in another State, wrote a check on a city-printed blank, and received his cancelled note that was also printed elsewhere. That editor owns one of the best-equipped print shops in Texas, buys everything he can at home, preaches home-town patronage every week, and constantly boosts all home institutions. Is there any wonder that he complains?

Why Customers Leave Home

I have just looked over one of the best South Texas weekly newspapers printed at a county site town within short riding distance of both Corpus Christi and San Antonio. I was surprised to find there was not a dry goods advertisement in the paper. Closer inspection showed that there was not a grocery, hardware, furniture or drug advertisement in it. But for the foreign advertising there was not enough business in this most excellent local newspaper to pay the owner's board for the week, with nothing left for rent, printers, paper, power and other local expenses. Is it any wonder that citizens of that town are doing most of their buying in Corpus Christi and San Antonio?

Helping the Orphans

Eagle Lake is a long way from Baylor Orphans' Home. Eggs are distressingly cheap at Eagle Lake, but scarce at the orphans' home and orphans have wonderful appetites for eggs, whether they are cheap or high. So, the Baptist Missionary society at Eagle Lake is gathering eggs and shipping them to the Baylor orphanage, thus helping to fill the orphanage vacuum. Many things that are allowed to go to waste on the farms are badly needed by somebody. It is a great work for somebody—getting things not needed to those who need them.

VEGETABLES IN THE SPRING DIET.

By Harry L. Sexton

The use of fresh vegetables has supplanted the old-time remedy of sulphur and molasses as a cure-all for Spring fever, and the vegetables will do everything the old remedy was supposed to do. Dr. Louise Stanley, of the Bureau of Home Economics, said in a statement made public by the Bureau. Eating habits have changed so extensively that a Spring tonic has become unnecessary she said. The statement follows in full text:

"Another of your grandmother's pet home remedies, the sulphur and molasses cure-all for 'Spring fever' has been relegated to the past, and Dr. Louise Stanley, Chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, offers a substitute. She says that the use of fresh vegetables in the diet will do everything that the old stand-by was to do.

Changed Eating Habits.

"The modern theory of nutrition has substituted fresh vegetables for the sticky mass which every member of the family was urged to take daily by the spoonful as soon as Spring came, she said. About this time every year the jar of sulphur and molasses used to appear in the kitchen cupboard and great store was set by its curative powers. Though little was known of the special nutritive values of the various kinds of foods, the Spring tonic was assumed to be a necessity following the more restricted diets of winter.

"Our national eating habits have changed so greatly that any sort of Spring tonic is superfluous. We now have an abundant supply of fresh fruit and vegetables the year round. Increased facilities for shipping perishable foodstuffs from the southern markets enable us to provide a winter diet little different from our summer diet. These fruits and vegetables offer a continuous supply of vitamins and minerals which are really efficacious in maintaining good nutrition. One vitamin especially, which is found in varying degrees in fruits and vegetables, automatically takes care of lagging appetites and promotes good digestion and the absorption of food. Because the body has only a limited capacity to store this vitamin, the food supply should contain an abundance at all times.

Edible Greens Suggested.

"For the more remote rural districts where the markets are likely to lack a supply of fresh vegetables Dr. Stanley suggests that the people take advantage of the information recently offered by the Bureau of Plant Industry which listed several edible greens that may soon be found in the fields and woods. The list includes poke, lamb's quarter, nettle, plantain, mustard greens, and dandelions. Sweet tops, they say, are also edible and when picked do not kill the parent roots. Beet and radish tops may be gathered and used for greens while they are young and tender. The tiny beets but not the little radishes may be cooked along with the greens.

"Nettle, which to the bare legged country child means a stinging plant to be avoided, is an old-world potherb. It should be picked when the sprouts are finger long and should be cooked like spinach. Plantain was used commonly in France in the 16th and 17th centuries as a potherb but it can also be served in salads. Mustard greens and lamb's quarter are cooked like spinach, and poke in the same way as asparagus.

"Practically all the benefits which might be derived from vegetables may be lost in the cooking, Dr. Stanley pointed out. The best methods of cooking vegetables for preserving the food value are in the following order: Baking, steaming and boiling in the skins. When water is used in cooking, the Bureau advocates using a small quantity for most vegetables. This method, with brief cooking retains most of the vitamins and minerals, many of which are soluble in water and frequently thrown away.

The greatest fault in vegetable preparation, the Bureau finds, is over-cooking. The addition of bicarbonate of soda to the vegetable water is a practice which the Bureau

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

INDISPENSABLE furnishings in a well-regulated kitchen are accurate scales and measuring utensils; a pair of shears to be used only in the preparation of foods; and, since the success of so many dishes depends upon correct timing, a reliable clock such as one of the new electric kind that plug into the wall and can't go a second off without showing a warning signal.

The use of a small amount of sugar, much as we use salt and pepper, mitigates the harsh taste of many foods without sweetening them. Used in the preparation of meat sauces and gravies, it accentuates the various flavors, binds them into a harmonious whole, and improves the color.

would at least provide a means of livelihood. Things haven't changed much and the same principles apply today. The farmer, however hard times may be for him, who plants and cultivates his own garden has a form of insurance against privation that is denied the city worker. In this respect he is far better off than the thousands of unemployed in the cities, many of whom left the farm at the time of industrial prosperity and are now looking wistfully back at the land.

"If everybody engaged in farming," Mr. Beattie said in his address, "will produce plenty of fruits, vegetables, milk and butter, poultry and eggs, home grown and cured pork, all so fresh meats to some extent, they at least have a good living at home and that's more than a lot of people who are out of employment have today." "But," says the pessimist, "that will only increase the difficulty and reduce the market for foods that are grown in a large way for sale. Perhaps, provided the farmer has the money with which to buy the food, but suppose he does not have the money, what then? As a matter of fact, it is good business and economy to produce most of the living for the farm family and the hired help right on the farm."

In all parts of the country there are farsighted agricultural leaders who are in agreement with Mr.

Hoover's Americanism

Mr. Hoover not only is American in every fiber, but he is one of those who knows and can tell why he is American. Any whose conceptions of partisanship tempt them to question his mental status reasonably may be asked to look into their own minds and see if they are equally prepared to tell why they are Americans.—Buffalo News.

Hoover's Record

Both from its humane and practical side the work which Mr. Hoover has done appeals to thinking men and women. Hoover has successfully handled problems which would have baffled most men. His record is unsurpassed.—Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette Bulletin.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

THE new cotton chenille rugs in gay colors and striking patterns are the very thing to brighten up the rooms in the summer home. The fact that they are washable is a great advantage. The better kind are absolutely color fast, and will emerge from the harshest laundering without the slightest loss of shape.

A little grated orange peel gives squash a different and wonderfully delicate flavor. Squash should be steamed. When tender, ways be steamed. When tender, mash in a hot bowl until smooth. Season with salt to taste, one-half teaspoon sugar, and butter the size of a egg, for each quart. Beat of an egg, for each quart. Beat well, adding four tablespoons thick cream. Pile in hot dish and serve.

Hoover in Hearts of People

"In my opinion, Mr. Hoover stands in the hearts of the American people equal to any man in the United States. I am sure that there is no member of the Senate who, if he ran for President against Hoover, would be able to poll as many votes as he would poll."—Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, in 1919.

THOUGHTLESS CHILDREN.

The children cheered when a school house burned in East Boston a few days ago, but they should remember that if they didn't have school houses they could never get to college and learn to play football.
